First Session Parliament

The meeting of the Blairmore Social Club, held on Friday night last, took the form of a "mock parliament" and proved to be one of the most novel and interesting entertainments ever staged in town.

Dr. E. H. Gray, as speaker, took the chair about 8:30, when the following speech from the throne was delivered:

Speech From The Throne.

Gentlemen of the Senate: Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I welcome you most heartily upon your coming together for the first session of this Parliament. You have met for the dispatch of business well calculated to have an important bearing on our national well-being, at a time when the Empire, and indeed the World itself, are in mortal conflict with forces which, if not destroyed, must soon or later arrest our continued pursuit of those social aims which should be common to all civilized people, and I dare, therefore, to extend to you a welcome inspired by both personal and patriotic considerations. The war in which we have been engaged since August, 1914 is still, happily, the chief object of our concern, but though it can hardly be said that the end is in sight, our determination to win, and our confidence that we shall win, increase in proportion to the sacrifices we are making to that end. In this unprecedented struggle our determination to win is dictated solely by a desire to compel the observance of good faith, to vindicate the right of every people, however small, to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" and to establish forever provisions "for and by the people," to whatever power they may confer. With a cause such as this, and with patriotic souls to support it, we cannot lose.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The usual estimates of revenue and expenditures will be submitted to you, and you will be asked to make adequate provision for the continued prosecution of the war as well as for our usual needs. I have no doubt, indeed, that you will address yourselves to both with your accustomed patriotism, industry and good judgment.

Gentlemen of the Senate: Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

My Government has prepared, and will submit to you, a bill for the purpose of the following matters:

1. The abolition of capital punishment and the substitution thereof, in the case of capital offences, of imprisonment. In this connection you will also be invited to decide upon a scheme whereby all prisoners of the State may be employed on useful public works, and particularly on the construction and maintenance of highways.

2. The limitation of inheritable wealth, whereby no person shall be entitled to dispose of by will, or to bequeath within one year of his death, without adequate consideration, property of greater value than $100,000 the residue over and above $100,000 to become part of the general revenue of the State.

3. The prohibition of personal canvassing for votes by candidates for election to public office, directly or indirectly, by themselves or their agents.

4. The redistribution of representation in the House of Commons, whereby 87 members shall be elected at large by each 80,000 of population until Canada's population reaches 15,000,000. This unit of representation in the several constituencies set apart for federal elections shall not vary by more than 10,000, and shall be increased by 100,000 on each increase of 5,000,000 in Canada's population.

5. The nationalization of railways, mines, forests, telephones, waterways and all such utilities and industries as may be deemed profitable to the State, and the ownership and control of which by the State may be deemed to be in the public interest.

A humble petition to His Majesty will also be submitted for your approval regarding that the British North America Act may be amended to the extent of abolishing the Canadian Senate.

With an earnest prayer that Divine guidance may direct your efforts I now leave you to the discharge of your important duties.

The address of the address was moved by the minister of public works, and seconded by the secretary of state.

The division of the House was made up as follows:

GOVERNMENT.

J. E. Gillis, premier and minister of justice, Charlottetown.

W. Shaw, minister of public works, Edmonton.

J. G. Bonanza, minister of trade and commerce, Halifax.

Loss to the world's merchant shipping in 1916, through war causes, exceeded the total tonnage constructed. Vessels sunk are put at 2,280, or 2,014,581 tons, and those built at 2,506, or 1,899,943 tons. The net reduction was one per cent. of the world's total. Great Britain led in shipbuilding with 510 vessels of 610,000 tons. The United States was second with 1,313 vessels of 560,000 tons. Ship built by other countries were given as 782 in number, of 750,000 tons. The entire world's merchant vessel tonnage at present, according to our estimate by Lloyd's, is 48,000,000.

Board of Pension

Commissioners

The Dominion Government have appointed a Board of Pension Commissioners for Canada, with offices in Ottawa. As this Board visit to Canada as they delay in dealing with pensioners, they will be in the country for some time, and the Board of Pension Commissioners, Ottawa.

A great deal of delay may be caused by communications being sent through other departments of the Government.

The Patriotic Fund Association and the Military Hospitals Commission have kindly consented to give information and assistance to those wishing to write direct to the Board of Pension Commissioners, Ottawa.

These sections have offices in certain localities throughout Canada. In all instances, in order to facilitate the granting of pensions, the Board is opening branch pension offices in Vancouver, Kelowna, Kamloops, Terrace, Prince George, Fort St. John, and Hinton. All information with regard to pensions may be obtained from these offices.

The White Ensign

The fact that we enjoy the liberty of the oceans is entirely due to the men who are in the front of the great difficulties and terrible dangers which they have to face. They are the men who, in the face of death, have sacrificed their lives for the sake of the white ensign. They are the men who, in the face of death, have sacrificed their lives for the sake of the white ensign.

Now, the men who did all this were not super-human, far from it. They were drawn from plain every-day people, such as you and I. Young men, often imagine service in the Navy to be something especially trying and difficult. It is not so. Any young fellow with average brains can do it, and would make good after a brief period of training. One has heard of the romance of the sea, but never gives up all interest in its varied occupations.

Now, the point is this. Many of us consider that no matter what is happening on the sea, it must be quite all right because the British Navy is on the job. This is a charming complacency to our Fleet, but alas it ever occurred to you that ships cannot be worked without men? The organization of our Navy has been so enormous during the present war, that the Admiralty resources are taxed to the uttermost in the effort to obtain enough men. That dangerous feeling that the Navy is sufficient unto itself, has been the cause of much anxiety in its relation to the task of securing recruits. Young men, make no mistake. By not joining the Navy you are playing wild. Our army may swell to many millions, but all the armies on earth would avail us nothing were it not for the most disaster. "Our Navy is strong," you say. Granted, but scarce it is, and it is not all that can be held by this. Come forward and offer yourself for service in the Fleet. If you lack experience, don't let that stop you. There are many things you can do as efficiently as a trained seaman.

Recruits are now being asked for by the Royal Naval Canadian Volunteer Reserve, for service on Canadian Coast Patrols.

This Corps was the first unit called out for active service in the Dominion of Canada.

All British subjects (except those of enemy blood) are eligible for enlistment. The pay is $1.00 per day for Ordinary Seaman, $1.10 per day for Able Seaman, and $1.20 per day for Petty Officer. Separation allowance $20.00 per month.

We must have hundreds of men at once in order to cope with grave problems now arising in both Canadian coasts.

Submariners are only weapons, and as much of their strength lies in their ability to keep out of sight, nothing but a very extensive Patrol System will avail against them.

Call at the Naval Recruiting office at Moose Jaw, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat or Red Deer.

Anglican Church

Divine service on Sunday next will be at 10.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. H. Clay. Sunday School at 2.30 p.m. A hearty welcome to all.

Starve Them Out

For 100,000,000 people Germany in 1916, with all the harvest food factories in full operation, was able to provide for but three-fifths of this population, and in 1917, the number of the population, 100,000,000 were fed from outside sources.

In war time, since August 1914, with so many millions of men in the field, perfectly non-productive citizens, Germany has been in peril from even less than this of her people.

Britain's navy has kept food getting into the country, and during those war years far more than 25,000,000 people have each year been fed by some starve system of food distribution, that the great masses of the people can tolerate no longer.

This is the reason why Germany is making peace offers today. She is a victor, but yet to stop bloodshed she is ready for peace. Imagine any one being fed by such a statement from a Hun.

She is on the verge of starvation; her masses are clamoring for food and unless their country is starved into an surrender.

Britain and her Allies know what they are doing. They have only to hold their positions, and advance another inch in every country, and they will have the laughing, bloodstained blankets of Europe "licked out of his boots."

Shoreham Camp

(Published by Request)

There's an island, desolated spot 'Tis to be mentioned,
Where all you lost is "Stand at ease,"
"Shore army," "Quick March,"
"Attention!"

It's miles away from anywhere, by God,
It's a cruel 'un,
A chap lived there for fifty years and never saw a woman.

There are lots of folk here, all dotted here and there,
For those who have to live inside, I've suffered many a prayer.

Inside the kitchen there's a big busy manly pot,
Last night a soldier was one trying on his overcoat.

It's sludge up to the eyebrows, you get it in the eyes,
But into it you have to go, without a sign of fear.

And when you've had a taste of sludge you just set to and groan,
And get cleaned up for next Parade, or else it's "Orderly Room!"

Week in, week out, from morn to night,
With the Jack and Jill, you climb the hill.

"Scuse that," it's a trick,
"Scuse that," it's a trick,
"Scuse that," it's a trick,
"Present," they fairly put you through it.

And as you stagger to your hut, the sergeant shouts, "Hurry up!"
With timbers, boots and panics, off you quickly get the lot.

You gallop and down the hills just like a blooming rabbit.
"Hurry back to bed," "Arms up and straight," "Hurry now," then
"Hurry back to bed."

And later on they make you put your kneecaps where your face is.

Now when the War is over, and we've captured Kaiser's hilly.
Without him would be wonderful and absolutely silly.

Just send him down to Shoreham, then he'll be a sight to see.
And I'll bet it won't be long before he drowns and fades away.

OUT WE'RE NOT DOWNHEARTED
YET

Cables for Members of Canadian Expeditionary Force in France

The Department of Militia and Defence reports that considerable delay and confusion frequently results through improper addressing in care of the War Office, London, cable messages intended for officers and men serving with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France. No arrangements exist for the forwarding of such messages from London by telegraph, and it is therefore necessary in all such cases to send them on by post.

All cable messages intended for members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France may (like telegrams) be forwarded by post from Canada addressed directly to France, the addresses of such messages, in addition to stating regimentally to keep out of sight, nothing but a very extensive Patrol System will avail against them.

Narrow Escape

A fellow named "Locks" had a very narrow escape from being consigned today, when he fell on a raft of mine pits south-bound and just got away as our teeth grabbed him. Several parties who witnessed the would-be rigger, being half, couldn't tell, but the prior escape was still alive and trotting, but minus an ear, and a leg.

In other words, a greatest artist singing on the concert stage in direct comparison with the Re-Creation of her voice by The New Edison.

This is what the picture means. It shows Anna Case, of the Metropolitan Grand Opera, proving by actual comparison that Thomas A. Edison's new invention Re-Creates her superb art with absolute fidelity.

The NEW EDISON

is no mere talking machine. Its Re-Creation, and the living voice, are indistinguishable.

The musical critics of more than two hundred Canadian and American papers stated that they were unable to detect any difference. To express this perfection—to cause the New Edison to stand out from the ordinary talking machine, music lovers coined a new title for Mr. Edison's marvellous success—"Music's Re-Creation".

United States at Breaking Point With Germany

Washington, Feb. 1.—Following the conference between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, the opinion became generally prevalent in official quarters that a break in diplomatic relations with Germany seemed inevitable. Although it was thought probable that an ultimatum or warning to the Berlin government might precede action, the view was taken widely in official quarters that the United States could not let the situation stand unchallenged.

No shipping of any kind was permitted to leave the port of New York Wednesday night. The harbor was closed by the collector of the port, who has full authority to act upon his own initiative in case of emergency.

After being sealed all night by destroyers and coast guard patrol boats, the port of New York was opened today by customs authorities to allow incoming and outgoing shipping. The stand taken by the collector was that ships could sail at their own risk. They were permitted to clear as usual.

New York, Feb. 1.—The effect of Germany's declaration of the sea blockade of the entire nation, to be enforced "with every available weapon and without further notice," was felt today in every port on the Atlantic coast.

Owners and agents of ships flying neutral flags were in doubt as to their future course of action, and it is believed that most of them will keep their ships in port until instructions are received from their governments. In the offices of French and British lines, it was said that there would be no interruption in the sailing from United States ports of ships carrying the flags of the entente allies.

To meet just such an emergency as this the British government has assembled, it was said, a large fleet of small fast cruisers to be used as submarine "chasers." The vessels, said to number 4,000, will be available to keep the sea lanes clear of raiders and submarines, and act as convoys. Shipping men pointed out that the most obvious effect of the German declaration would be a reduction in tonnage which freight ships of European neutral lines could carry on account of the increased space which would have to be sacrificed to carry coal and provisions for a continuous voyage from the United States ports to neutral ports. Hitherto neutral ships have relied largely upon British ports to renew their supplies.

Philadelphia, Feb. 1.—Orders were issued Wednesday night by Capt. Russell, commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard, denying shore leave until further notice to sailors of the interned German cruisers, Prinz Eitel Friedrich and Kron Prinz Wilhelm. The 700 men aboard the two ships have been granted shore leave twice a week.

New York, Feb. 1.—At midnight 20 patrolmen were dispatched to the docks where five Hamburg-American line steamships are tied up. Many other patrolmen were held in reserve. Officers were not told what their duties were to be.

Winnipeg, Feb. 1.—A special dispatch from Ottawa to the Winnipeg Telegram says: "Dispatches have been received at the capital from official sources in Washington, which indicate that President Wilson has given Ambassador Bernstorff his passports and ordered the recall of the United States ambassador in Berlin. These circles seem to be positive the information is correct."
